

Wichita Eagle

A BIG LOT
—OF—
E & W COLLARS
Will be put on sale at 10 o'clock this morning.
Price 18c Each.
JOE, The Hatter,
149 N Main, Wichita

REAL ESTATE.
(Furnished by the Deeds Abstract Co.)
The following transfers of real estate were filed for record in the office of the register of deeds.
N. P. Strickland to F. L. Tillinghast 131 1/2 Main st city w d $400 Jason Walker to S. F. Clark 79 1/2 12 Strong ave Logan add w d 1 Lizzie M. Slicker to E. S. Nall 47 1/2 bl k 3 Quincy add w d 200
James B. Fox to S. N. Nall 46 1/2
Blk 1 Quincy add w d 200
Joseph Rosenthal to Robert Feige interest Rosenthal's 4th add 1/2 int Rosenthal's 3rd add 1/2 int 1/2 least except Fairmount 5th add w d 1000
Rufus Cone shd to D. M. Kirkbride 35 Munroe ave Glendale add shd d Harriet E. Russell to Annie E. Oylear 911 bl k K Wheeler's add w d 500
J. R. Hensel to Roy Dunn lot 9 blk 10 Cheney w d 100
Wm. A. Johnson to Bertha J. Dockson lot 36 Fifth ave English's add 107 1019 Jackson ave Greifenshtain's add and 3 Topeka ave Mendis add
w d 6000
Wm. M. Bigbee to Wilson B. Hall lot 6 Byers' ave Clearwater w d 15 Rufus Cone shd to Eva R. Perry's w 34 1/2 1st shd d 450 Rufus Cone shd to Eva R. Perry all lot 1 sec 10 except west of Calhoun creek and north Arkansas river and 1/2 sec 14 and 1/2 sec 15 except track in southeast corner all in 28 1st shd d 300 Wm. Slayden to Wm. S. Koon 1/2 foot in blk B Hunters add w d 1500

What Do You Drink?
The Wichita Water Company commencing Oct. 10, and continuing until Nov. 10, 1890, will make a great effort for business.
It will tap the water main lay the pipe to the curb and place in position the stop cock and box free of charge to all who desire to use water works.

The best water in the city; ask your physician.
Professor Church, chemist, of Topeka, after making a thorough analysis of Wichita's water works water has the following to say: "This is a good, pure drinking water of good mineral and organic composition. I would rank this water as pure for drinking."

Landlords here is an opportunity to improve your property in an improved street or on streets where the water company has no mains, or to parties wanting water for sprinkling purposes only. For further particulars apply at the company's office 110 North Market street.

134-6 WICHITA WATER COMPANY.

Dallas State Fair and Exposition.
Excursion tickets will be sold October 17, 21, 24 and 28; final return limit, November 5. Tickets to be returned to continuous passage going, but good for return passage at any time within final limit with stopover privileges, thus enabling holders to see the beautiful Oklahoma country.
Rates—one first-class fare for round trip.
The Dallas fair is one of the great events of the year in Texas, and a large attendance is anticipated. Passengers via the Santa Fe route can use that line all the way, or they can go as far as Fort Worth, on the Santa Fe, and then change to the Texas and Pacific for Dallas. d121-4f

Old papers for sale at this office—25c per hundred. d30-1f

Teachers' Examination.
The regular teachers' examination will be held at the new court house, Saturday, October 25, 1890. Examination will begin at 8:30 a. m. D. S. FINE, d132-5f w-35-1f County Superintendent.

Advice to Mothers.
Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhea. Twenty cents a bottle. d14-1f w-6f

Daily by Dispatch.

New morning express, Kansas City to Chicago. The Santa Fe route. 44-1f

The Santa Fe is the short line Pueblo, to Colorado Springs and Denver. Note the time: Leave Wichita 4:10 p. m., arrive Pueblo 6:55 a. m., arrive Colorado Springs 7:40 a. m., arrive Denver 10:30 a. m. Through Pullman chair car and dining car service.
d50-1f

St. Louis express leaves Wichita at 2 o'clock p. m. Through sleeping and chair car Wichita to St. Louis, via Missouri Pacific railway. 107-1f

Take the Frisco Flyer at 2:25 p. m. to St.
Louis fair; it is the fastest train in and out of this country as the time will show. d134-1f

Chicago express via the Missouri Pacific railway, leaves Wichita at 8:45 a. m. Chicago next morning 8 o'clock. Missouri Pacific railway. 107-1f

KILLING COMPETITION!
FACTS FOR MEN.
Gents Underwear in all Grades, wool en, cotton and merino, plain and fancy, positively 25 to 50 percent less than elsewhere.

Reason Why:
Selling at Cost

Neckwear—Two Lots—1st, Neck Scarfs 35c, 3 for $1. 2nd, four-in-hands 19c, 3 for $1. 3rd, Neckties believing. See them.

GLOBE, 418 Douglas Ave

A MODERN EVANGELINE.

She was only an awkward, homely Irish girl, but I called her Evangeline, for in the heart throbbing under the coarse checked kerchief there lived the same fidelity and devotion we find so touching in the beautiful Acadia maid. But in this story of my Evangeline there is little of the poetical or picturesque, only stern and bitter reality.
For to begin with her name was Mary Anne Kelley, and she was plain, almost pathetically so, with a thin, colorless face, but out of this looked a pair of honest gray eyes, which appealed to you to be gentle with her, because of the very patience and meekness with which she was prepared to receive harshness and hardship. It was the same look you often see in the eyes of a homeless dog, to whose share have fallen only life's blows and its harsh bones. She was lame, too, this poor heroine of mine, and altogether a very forlorn and pitiful looking object as she came limping slowly and painfully up my creek and walked one hot August afternoon and tapped on the swinging door of the kitchen, where I fretted and fumed over current jelly that would not jell.

"If ye please, mum," said a voice timidly.
I looked around impatiently, but the intruder was too humble and forlorn for me to frown at her long, so I tried to ask pleasantly, "What do you want?"

"If ye please, mum, might ye have need of a gown?"
I had desperate need of one, but the one before me was so unimpressive, viewed in the light of a prospective skirt, that I hesitated. However, as I have said, my need was desperate, so with a heart-felt sigh over my lost Nora, whom the milkman had lured from my kitchen to install her mistress over his own the week before, I turned to Mary Anne and told her she might come for a day or two at least, when, if I found she suited me and she liked the place, we would make new arrangements. She was so grateful for my grudging consent that I really felt ashamed of my ungraciousness, and only for a remote experience with a young man I had taken on trust, and who in return had taken my new winter wrap, I would have left the question of reference unbroached, but when I asked her for them the girl said:

"If it's a character, mum, that ye mean, I haven't wan; but if ye will thrust me now?"

She was so wistful that I could not turn her away, so I wisely weakened, I inquired:
"How long have you been in this country?"

"A year, mum, last All Saints' day."

"Nearly two, then. What have you been doing all this time? Have you never been to college before?"

"Oh, yis, mum; but never far long at a time." Then noting, I suppose, that her statement had made a bad impression, she added, with a flush staining her thin cheek for a brief moment: "I've been a thramping of it most of the time. I've been a larkin' for some time."

I would like to have asked her who this some one was, but I had more urgent work just then for her to do, so it was not until some days later that I heard the story of Mary Anne Kelley's thramp. While being her heart to the many of the stumbled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we were deep in a basket of peas, shelling them while we talked, when Mary Anne suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious pathos in her voice and face that I felt my eyes grow misty at times, and a real respect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling
them while we talked, when Mary Anne
suddenly turned to me and said: "It was a
homely and a commonplace story enough, but
the girl told it with so much unconscious
pathos in her voice and face that I felt my
eyes grow misty at times, and a real re-
spect sprang up in my heart for the simple,
ignorant creature, with her earnest face
and her heart to the many of the stum-
bled duties, she had proven herself a
ready learner, so docile and anxious to
please, that after her days of trials were
over I had been glad to keep her, and we
were deep in a basket of peas, shelling them